

Second Extension of Deadline - SEE Law Journal Special Edition

The deadline for submission of papers for the Special Edition of the SEE Law Journal has been extended once again to 25th of November.

In case you have missed our previous deadline and are potentially interested academic, researcher, PhD candidate or legal practitioner dealing with issues related to cross border enforcement, enforcement of judgements in civil or commercial law, you have the opportunity to apply and take part in the competition for 3 best scientific papers that will be awarded with financial awards.

Please find more in the Call for Papers enclosed. All submissions must be written in English Language and sent to the coordinator@seelawschool.org address.

This edition of the SEE Law Journal is published within the frames of the “Cross-border enforcement of judgments in South East Europe” sub-project which is implemented under the leadership of the GIZ Open Regional Fund for South East Europe-Legal reform.